Garner Blood Drive in Final Day; Aid Sought

By JOYCE LOEW, Gater Staff Reporter

Today is the last day of the 1955 blood drive for Jim Garner, the San Francisco State sophomore afflicted with the incurable disease, hemophilia.

The campus-wide blood drive bears the slogan "By helping one, we help many," and proposes to contract enough blood donations from the students to enable Jim to survive; Jim must have one pint of blood every day.

MOBILE UNIT

Because of this special drive on the campus, a mobile unit from the Irwin Memorial Bloodbank is set up in the Gator Swamp to receive the blood donations for Jim, and students will be served free refreshments following the donation. The mobile unit will be on campus today from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. to receive blood.

Bernie Johnston, chairman of the Jim Garner Blood Drive urges every San Francisco State student who is physically able to donate one pint of blood today so that during 1955 Jim Garner will be able to assume the role of a normal college student.

WILL HELP MANY

By helping Jim, the student donors will be helping every other person afflicted with hemophilia because, with Jim's help, Dr. Spate is doing research at Stanford Hospital to try to discover a possible cure for hemophilia. Without donations Jim must pay $33 per pint of blood, but with the donations, the price is reduced to $8.50.

Hemophilia is an inherited disease and is as yet incurable. A victim of hemophilia may not discover the disease until a severe injury occurs, or it may be discovered at birth. Hemophilia is a strange disease that does not allow the blood to clot normally and even with a very minor injury, internal bleeding sets in and a transfusion is necessary.

A pledge booth will be set up in the Student Union to receive pledges and appointments. All students under 21 must secure a release slip at the pledge booth and have it signed by one parent in order to give blood.

Yearbook Plans Miss Franciscan Contest, Rally

In order to stimulate greater interest in the sale of the 1955 Franciscan, a Miss Franciscan contest will be held next week, according to editor Pat O'Donnell.

Miss Franciscan will be presented to the student body at the annual Franciscan rally on January 13.

Any organization may sponsor a girl for the contest. The voting on January 11 and 12 is open to the entire student body, O'Donnell stated.

Three outstanding businessmen and civic leaders will select the winner from the three candidates receiving the greatest number of votes, at a luncheon on January 13.

Franciscan advertising manager Jack Lynch stated that this year the Franciscan will be 35 pages larger than last year; it will have a new format; a new type of cover. "In addition to all this," Lynch added, "a new type of special feature will be announced at the rally next week."

The price of the yearbook remains at $4. Yearbooks may be reserved for $1 at the special table set up in the College Union or at the Associated Students Business Office, Hut T-1.

January 10-13 Are Final Franciscan Photo Days

January 10 has been set as the final date for senior and organization photos to be taken for the 1955 Franciscan. The photographer will be on the campus for four days only, January 10 to 13, in the Gator Swamp from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Franciscan Editor Pat O'Donnell urges that all photo proofs be returned immediately if they are to be used in the Franciscan. Proofs may be sent to the studio or returned to the photographer personally during the coming week.

PLACEMENT OFFICE

The San Francisco State college placement office has announced that several representatives from Montgomery Ward and Company will be on the campus Monday, January 17, to recruit applicants interested in training in the fields of administrative, accounting, production management, and industrial engineering. They also plan to interview men interested in retail store management.

These men must be either January or June graduates in business administration or economics. Starting salary will be $316 a month.

Junior Prom Scheduled Here Jan. 14

The Colonial Room of the St. Francis Hotel will be the scene of this year's Junior Prom on January 14.

Music for the dance will be provided by Leo Mallory and his Fabulous Five plus Three. Mallory has played for a number of University of California dances.

"We have incorporated a number of unique innovations to make this year's prom a huge success," reported Bob Long, Junior Class president. Long also said that the Juniors tried to keep the price down to fit the student's pocketbook. Bids are set at $2.75 per couple.

Publicity for the prom is being planned by Sharon Boyle and Joan Ruggerio, with George Poquette's specialties featured.

The floor committee and ticket sales are being handled by Mike Mahan, Ed Soderman, Patricia Rodriguez, Vangie Tounger, Nina Zarubian, and Rose Ann Parella. Special arrangements are being made by Georgia Marinos, Mary Ellen Beyer, and assisted by junior class secretary Silvia Vinassa.

Tallies, bids and tickets were printed under the direction of the Publicity Committee with junior class vice president Dan Caldwell assisting.

Dean Alan Johnson, associate dean of students, will be one of the faculty sponsors for the prom.

Compromise Committee Reworks Pub By-Laws

A committee chosen to readjust the proposals to amend the Board of Publications by-laws, met recently and made three major revisions.

The results of the compromise will effect control of the editorial policy of the Gater, the appointment of the members of the Board of Publications, and the appointment of the editors of the Gater.

ORIGINAL REVISION

The original revision to the board's by-laws which was presented to the Board of Directors was not passed and President Bob Horn appointed a compromise committee to work out the changes. In discussing the original proposal the editorial staff stated that the board should not be controlled by the student body president, and the student body officers stated that it should not be entirely run by the journalism people.

In the old by-laws, the Board of Publications had complete control over the paper. In effect, both the proposal which the Board of Directors voted down, and the compromise which was reached, agreed that the editor should decide the editorial policy of the paper. If the compromise is accepted, the editor will have this power, but the board will continue to handle over-all policies.

OLD APPOINTMENT

In the old by-laws, three student members of the Board of Publications were nominated by a committee composed of the faculty advisor of journalism, and the editors of the Gater and the Franciscan. They were then appointed by the Board of Directors.

The unaccepted proposal was that these members be appointed by the president of the student body, with the approval of the Board of Directors.

NEW COMMITTEE

If the compromise plan is accepted, the editors will be appointed by a committee jointly composed of student body officers and each of the publication editors, in equal numbers. They must be approved by the Board of Directors.

In the old by-laws the appointment of the editors of the paper was controlled by the Board of Publications. The defeated proposal was that they be appointed by the Board of Directors upon the nomination of the Board of Publications.

BOARD APPOINTS

The compromise committee changed this so that if the new amendment is accepted, the Board of Publications will appoint them with the approval of the Board of Directors.

The compromise was presented to the Board of Directors on Tuesday, and must be voted upon at one more meeting in order for it to be put into effect.

Last Day Today for Frosh Camp Counselors

This is the last day to file an application for Frosh Camp Counselors. Applications may be obtained in the ASSFSC Business Office.

Three Major Revisions Planned for New Term

Registration procedure for the spring semester has been drastically revised.

Three major changes have been inaugurated. Changes are (1) class card procedure; (2) consolidation of registration in one building; (3) limited and regular students registering at different times.

Petitions Available For 'Gater' Editors

Petitions are now available in the ASSFSC Business Office for editorial positions on the Golden Gater.

Editor Keith Pinckney urges anyone interested in petitioning for news, feature, and sports editor or for assistant editor in these departments to pick up a petition.

All petitions must be returned to the Business Office by 4 p. m. Wednesday, January 12.

Stephen T. Davis Resigns Gater

Stephen T. Davis, much-discussed author of the column "Smatter of Opinion" in the Gater, has resigned. His reason is that the paper is not as free as it should be and he cannot continue to write in such an atmosphere.

Davis is a senior at San Francisco State and will graduate in February. He has received much comment, both verbal and written, on his column which criticized many aspects of college life.

Davis says this does not mean that he will no longer participate in publications. He plans to go back to publishing the "Whirlpool," a mimeographed paper dealing with campus activities, which he put out last semester.

In the past class cards were filled out at the first class meeting. Next semester each student will pick up his class card from representatives of the various divisions as they register.

Students will be required to fill out these cards as they register for their classes and turn them in with their official registration booklets.

CARDS VALIDATED

The cards will then be validated by the Registrar's Office and sent to the instructor. Instructors will admit only students whose cards they have. If a student wishes to change a class after registration he must again obtain a class card before he will be admitted.

Next semester, for the first time in many years, registration will be consolidated in one building, the gym. Once a student has obtained his registration booklet he will be required to fill it out and pay all fees immediately.

TIMES REVISED

Regular and limited students will register at different times. Registration for regular students will take place on February 10 and 11 from 7:30 a. m. to 1:30 p. m. Limited students will register February 10 and 11 from 2:30 to 8:30 p. m. and on February 12 from 9 a. m. to p. m.

According to Dean John Bergstresser registration procedures will be tightened up greatly this year. In a sense the new class card system makes every class a limited course. With the increase of students more early morning and late afternoon classes will be required.

Sponsors Needed For New Freshmen

A meeting for all students interested in sponsoring one or two new freshman students has been scheduled for January 11 at 1 p. m. in CA 221. The "sponsors" program will be a part of the general orientation week activities.

All that is required of a sponsor is that he or she write a letter of welcome to an incoming student, invite him to the second annual "Night of Fun," and attend this orientation activity with the new freshman.

The purpose of this welcoming program is to make all the new students feel that they are part of the college and to enable old students to meet the new freshmen, according to sponsor's chairman Ruben Garcia.

"Night of Fun" will include a spaghetti feed in the College Union followed by games in the Men's Gym and a dance in the Women's Gym.

AFROTC Class Briefed By Former State Student

Second Lieutenant Bill Donnellan, 24, one of the first AFROTC graduates from this school to complete pilot training, briefed the Air Science classes December 14 on what the future holds for them as pilots.

'Sapient' Magazine Written, Produced By State Students

Three S. F. State students and one S. F. State graduate have turned publisher and joined with three other student writers and artists in producing the first issue of a new "socioliterary" magazine, "Sapient."

Students Stephen T. Davis, Michel Quihillalt, and Dale Tussing, and graduate Lucie M. Krauter have combined to form "Sapient Associates," publishers of the new Bay Area magazine. Davis, Quihillalt, and Tussing have articles published in the first quarterly issue. Carl Ansberry, language arts major, acted in an editorial capacity.

Creative writers Dick Grinols and Thomas Lawrence, and artist Dennis Beall, also have works published.

Also included in the "little" magazine are an article by non-student J. R. Carls and art by two students at California College of Arts and Crafts and one at California School of Fine Arts.

The Creative Arts

.... By ROBERT M. KLANG

Next Tuesday evening the San Francisco State College Symphonic Band will give its formal winter concert in the Main Auditorium. But for those who cannot be in the Main Auditorium on the evening of January 11, the band, under the director of Edwin C. Kruth, will give an hour-long concert (between 1 and 2 p. m.) the same day.

Some of the music the band will play during its afternoon concert is represented in the following list: Wagner's "Trauersinfonie" and the Good Friday music from "Parsifal;" Granger's "The Power of Rome and the Christian Heart;" Gould's "Cowboy Rhapsody;" Vaughn-Williams' "Folk Song Suite;" Gillis' "Symphony No. 1;" and Cherubini's "Anacreon Overture."

The afternoon concert, like the evening concert, is admission-free.

ART CLUB MOVIES

The Art Club, in conjunction with the Creative Arts Division, will present the last of its series of Art Movies next Wednesday and Thursday. The first film of next week's showings is "Creative Art in Japan," which has as its subjects important aspects of Japanese art between prehistoric times and the Eighteenth Century.

The second film is "Shaped by Danish Hands," a film dedicated to contemporary crafts of Denmark.

The last film is "In the Street" and, says John Gutmann of the Art Department, "is an experimental film using the medium of motion picture photography to 'fix' the stream of life in New York's 104th street. Helen Levitt and James Agee, makers of 'The Quiet One,' use the candid camera technique to search for the significant moment in human behavior."

The movies will be shown three times during the week in AI 109: January 12, 12 to 1 p. m. and 4 to 5 p. m.; and on January 13, 12 to 1 p. m.

CHOIR PERFORMS

This afternoon and tomorrow evening the San Francisco State A Capella Choir will assist in the San Francisco Symphony's performance of Berlioz' "L'Enfance du Christ" in the Opera House. Thomas Scherman, the New York conductor, will direct the performance as the first guest conductor of the symphony's 1954-1955 season.

Many Activities Are Provided at The 'Gator Swamp'

By LEROY PACINI

To those who don't know, the "Gator Swamp" is not the home of "Big Baggo" State's live alligator mascot. True the housing shortage is rather bad, but "Big Baggo" has a nice hot and cold running mud abode at Steinhart Aquarium. The "Gator Swamp" is the humble-looking little hut just outside the side entrance of the cafeteria.

Its purpose: To help students pass their leisure time and perhaps make new friends. The "Gator Swamp" produces probably more activities than any other organization on campus. Only one small item is lacking. People either don't seem to care about what's going on, or don't know what's going on.

LACK OF SPIRIT

In lieu of the recent charges that State students lack "spirit" we assume the reason is the latter.

Gator Swamp activities include: folk dancing every Friday (if the students express a desire to have it; jam sessions on Tuesdays and Thursdays, dances usually once a month, card lessons, checker and chess tournaments throughout the year.

'SWAMP' RIBBED IN PAST

Today the Gator Swamp continues its fine work with a blood drive for State student Jim Garner, a hemophiliac. On January 14, they are holding a carnival, complete with all carnival games, in and about the region of the hut. All proceeds will go to Jim Garner.

In the past the "Swamp" has been in for some ribbings. Despite the recurrent rumors that this innocent-looking little hut makes bums and card players out of the unfortunates who

Model UN Duties Listed for Parley

This year San Francisco State College will host the fifth annual Model United Nations Conference.

To complete the many preparations necessary for this event a student Model U. N. Commission has been formed.

By HANK CUNNINGHAM

For months the Model United Nations Commission of S. F. State College has been striving to complete the preparations for the coming conference.

To enable the students of this college to gain some conception of the tasks confronting the commission, and of the methods used to cover them, some knowledge of the organizational structure of the commission is necessary.

COMPLEX DEPARTMENT

Perhaps the most technically complex aspect of this structure is the department of the Secretary General.

This department is responsible for completing a number of important preparations, among which is the adaptation of the machinery of the International Court of Justice, as it functions in the United Nations, to the context of the Model U. N.

To accomplish this, a committee has been established to make a detailed study of the United Nations Statute. Since this is the first time in the history of the Model U. N. that the International Court has been included as a part of the conference, the work of the committee is exceptionally difficult.

The realization that the future of the court as an integral part of the Model U. N. will depend largely upon the efforts of that group, lends added weight to the problems they must face.

REVISES PROCEDURE

Also under the jurisdiction of the Secretary General is the Procedure Committee. This group has concerned itself with the job of revising the rules of procedure of the organization in the hope that, through revision, the work of the conference might be facilitated.

To do this it was necessary to study the records of past conferences to determine just where improvements may best be made.

A third responsibility of the Secretary General is that of creating an agenda for the conference.

Once again a special committee was formed to cope with this step in the preparations.

AGENDA FORMULATED

Entitled the Agenda Committee, this group must sponsor the many problems of world significance, and include them on the agenda that is to be submitted to the delegates of the conference. It has been reported that the first draft of the agenda has been completed and will be introduced to the commission shortly.

These are but three of the numerous preparations that must be completed if there is to be a Model United Nations Conference in 1955. That they are being handled skillfully and promptly is clearly evident; that there is a definite need for more student help in this endeavor is also clearly evident.

Any students interested in participating in the activities of the Model U. N. are urged to sign up in Hut B-2.

S. F. STATE STUDENT APPEARS AT CONCERT

San Francisco State student Blythe Theilen is appearing in a benefit music concert in the Richmond Auditorium on January 21 at 8:30 p. m. The program will feature classical and contemporary music, and the proceeds will go to the Trinity Lutheran Church of Richmond to enhance their building fund.

The tickets are $1.00 and are available in the Creative Arts box office.

SERVICE CLUB MEETS

CAFE WINS INTERIOR DECORATION AWARD

Director of food service, Mrs. Erna Lehan, has announced that the San Francisco State Cafeteria has been awarded a first place for interior decoration by a national magazine.

The award was based on originality, application of theme, color, arrangement, practicality and economy. The interior of the cafeteria was designed by Dudley Kelly. Thirteen awards of this type were given.

This is the second award given the cafeteria. Last year an honorable mention for general layout of facilities was awarded.

Sunday School Class Starts January 10

Give Blood Today

Jim Garner Needs Pint of Blood Every Day to Remain Alive

Yesterday and today, a mobile blood bank arrived on campus collecting blood to be added to the account of Jim Garner, a student at S. F. State. Most of the student body knows it by now, but for the uninitiated let us repeat that Jim needs the plasma equivalent of a pint of blood a day.

That's right. A pint a day, 365 pints a year. Campus groups have banded together to help Jim get at least a portion of that total. With the co-operation of the students they cannot help succeeding.

But it's not Jim alone that the blood donors are helping. The problem and the solution are far bigger than that, for Jim, along with thousands of others in the United States is a victim of hemophilia.

That means that every time he gets a small cut or bruise he is subject to bleeding without stop. The only way that his blood can be induced to clot is through the addition of a unit of plasma a day to his bloodstream.

By a bigger problem than Jim alone, we mean the research that Jim's doctor and others are doing into the question of hemophilia; research that may prove the solution to the burden that Jim and others like him are forced to carry throughout their entire life.

What this college is doing for Jim Garner, may be carried over into the lives of other victims of hemophilia.

It's a big job and a major responsibility. We hope that the students of San Francisco State College will rise to the challenge and donate their pints of blood today. We want to keep Jim Garner as a student at S. F. State. This is the only way we can do it.

Your Student Government

This is one in a series of articles to acquaint the students with Student Government activities

By WALTER WARREN

For some time now there have been a group of people, a clique, who take as their philosophy a sneering at everything in this institution, the Student Body Government, the Veterans, the Creative Arts majors, the Athletic majors, the professors, the administration, and just about everything else that you can mention.

Using a perverted "liberalism" as their excuse, they confuse invective for logic and verbalism for truth. They wouldn't recognize a syllogism, and a solid fact would kill them.

IGNORES NIT-PICKERS

This article which usually ignores such nit-pickers of the student body, feels that, within our purpose, we should answer their sneers at the extra-curricular program in general and of the student body government in particular.

We have attempted to show in this series of articles that every student is aided by a group of hard-working people whose aim it is to provide maximum service to the most people in a democratic manner.

ACTIVITIES OUTSIDE CLASS

This is true not only in the student body government which provides as long series of needed services, several hundred functions ranging in importance from the managing of hundreds of thousands of dollars per year of the students' money to lending its name to some worthwhile school project, but true also of the Physical Education Division, the Creative Arts Division, the clubs and organizations, and others who engage in activities outside the normal classroom schedule.

This being an institution of learning, there is no justification of any of these activities unless they add to the learning process. In other words, is the participation by the individual student in these affairs of value to the student in the conduct of his life after he graduates? Many writers think so, claiming that extra-curricular activity, including student organizations are an integral part of the learning process.

NOT FIFTH WHEEL

For example, Ruth Stron in "The American College" speaking of organization state, "They are not a fifth wheel but an essential feature of college education." The advantages of group work, practical co-ordination with classroom learning, practicing democracy, inter-community relationships, etc., are so obvious that they need no further elucidation here, even if I had the space.

Many studies have been made relating vocational and financial success after graduation to extra-curricular activities while in college. The Fresno State College survey described by Victor L. Jepson, in "College Activities and Vocational Sources" ("Occupations" magazine, February, 1951, p. 345), covered graduates from that school for a ten-year period, 1929-1938, and compared their 1947 income.

TOTAL GROUP, 500

They found a co-efficient correlation between extra-curricular activity and earning was 0.27 but between grades and earnings was 0.0. However, it should be stated here that the total group was only 500 persons, and that financial success should not be the only criterion.

It is also noted that the highest correlation (in the 0.30's) occurred with high income when high grades were combined with high activity participation. Further studies in this field can be found drawing much the same conclusion, such as Bessie Lee Gambrill's "College Achievement and Vocational Success" (Teachers' College Contribution to Education No. 121, Columbia University, 1947).

New College Union Sought to Relieve Lack of Facilities

By PAUL BRUNSWICK

Approximately $750,000 would build a San Francisco State College Union. Plans for this project have been in the mind of Student Body members for several years now.

At the present time the college is in sore need of adequate facilities for Student Activities. The Student Body Government, the Golden Gator Staff, and the ASSFSC Business Office are crowded into the limited confines of Hut T-1.

NOT ENOUGH ROOM

The recreational facilities of the Gator Swamp are nullified in relation to the crowded conditions that exist there. About 2000 students flock into the cafeteria at once, for want of a place to lounge during their college breaks.

A Student Union would solve all these problems according to Bert Phillips, last year's student body president. "The whole idea of a Student Union is to plan a building with adequate facilities that will encompass the activities and interests of the students over a period of years, rather than just a structure to take care of present needs," Phillips says.

ONE-STORY BUILDING

The Student Union Building will probably occupy the area now taken by the huts. It will consist of a one-story building and provide for offices for Student Government and facilities for the publication of the Golden Gator.

In addition, the Union will provide a student post office, a coffee bar, game rooms, reading rooms, a health center, and clubrooms for meetings of campus organizations. There will also be a bowling alley in the basement of the Union.

Far fetched as it may seem, this project is far from impossible. Given the necessary support, it can be completed in two years' time.

Depth Added to Language Arts

Dr. Hayakawa, Semanticist, Assumes Professorship Here

By JACK WILLIAMSON

The Language Arts Division will receive additional depth by the arrival of a new professor. Dr. Samuel Ichize Hayakawa, well-known semanticist, writer, and educator, is going to assume a full-time instructorship on the S. F. State College staff.

Since receiving his M.A. from McGill University and his Ph.D. from the University of Wisconsin, he has taught at the University of Wisconsin, Illinois Institute of Technology, and has lectured at the University of Chicago since 1950. In the summer of 1952 he taught two classes here: English 139, Semantics and English 239, Workshop in Problems of Communication.

One of America's most outstanding proponents of general semantics, he is widely read. He is author of the Book of the Month Club selection, Language in Thought and Action, which was translated into Swedish and Japanese. He is also founder and editor of "ETC," a review of general semantics.

Hayakawa is 49, married, with three children: Alan, Mark and Winnie. He is active in numerous scientific organizations and is an expert on modern art and jazz.

In a lecture, with Turk Murphy on one side and Vernon

Alley's quartet on the other, Hayakawa explained that he seriously considers jazz an expressive means of communicating ideas.

The definition of general semantics is the study of the health and pathology of the communicative process. In layman terms it means the study of what goes haywire when people misunderstand themselves and each other, and what to do about it. Semanticists feel that much of the troubles of humans, both individually and in groups, lies in the failure to correctly interpret each other's statement. As a result, the turmoil aroused manifests itself in mental illness, wars and the like.

Hayakawa, a Canadian-Japanese, born in Vancouver, studied under the late Count Alfred Korzybski, one of the founders of the study of general semantics. He will start teaching in September, 1955.

He will teach an undergraduate course of Beginning Semantics and a graduate course in the Theory of Communication.

Semantics should be especially interesting to both Language Arts and Social Science majors and minors, as it will treat the relationship of language to psychology, philosophy and cultural anthropology.

The letter is titled "News

New Draft Regulations For Students Released

Student draft regulations posted recently by the Military Affairs Secretary are as follows:

1—Under the regulations of the Universal Military Law, as amended, an individual is required to register with his draft board within five days of his becoming 18, and may be inducted at any time after he reaches the age of 18½. Currently, most draft boards are not calling individuals under 20 years of age.

MAY OBTAIN 1-S CLASS

2—College students if called for induction and not eligible for deferment on any other basis, may request and receive, one time only, a 1-S class which will defer them until the end of their academic year. Students receiving the 1-S classification have the upper maximum age limit when they can be drafted from 26 years to 35 years of age.

3—Grades constitute a basis for deferment as follows: Sophomore students may request deferment if their class standing as a freshman is in the upper 50 per cent; a junior may request deferment if his standing is in the upper 66 2/3 per cent as a sophomore; seniors may request deferment if they rank in the upper 75 per cent of their class for the previous year. A student's classification is reviewed at the end of the year by his local board, at which time he must furnish evidence of his class standing. He may ask the Military Affairs Secretary for a statement of his standing (S.S. Form 109).

QUALIFICATION TEST

4—It is advisable for students seeking deferment to take the Selective Service Qualification test, since it constitutes another basis for deferment if the student's grade standing falls at any time. This test will be given during the year and can be taken only once.

5—All student deferments are contingent on evidence that the student is making normal progress toward graduation in four academic years. Some draft boards permit work taken in summer sessions to be counted as part of that taken in the next academic year. In California, most boards require a minimum of 15 earned units per semester.

POWER TO DRAFT

6—It should be understood that the local board has the power to draft a student with the required class standing and the score of 70 and above on the Selective Service test.

7—It should be remembered that no action is taken automatically for a student. It is his responsibility to request the necessary certification by the Military Affairs Secretary.

If a student has any questions about his draft status, he should consult the Military Affairs Secretary and his local draft board.

Staff Slated for Summer Sessions

Much of the summer staff for 1955 will be composed of prominent authors and outstanding personalities, according to Dean Leo Caine, director of summer sessions.

The regular summer staff consists of 300 faculty members. There are 150 regular members and 150 visiting members. Among the numerous personalities on the visiting staff for 1955 are: Walter Von Tilburg, author of "Ox-Bow Incident," who will conduct a writers' workshop.

RAGAN'S BOOKS USED

Others include William Ragan from the University of Oklahoma, author of many of San Francisco States' textbooks used for elementary teaching, and a specialist in elementary schools; Virgil Smith, assistant superintendent of schools in Seattle; Samuel Kirk, director of the Research Institute for Handicapped Children at the University of Illinois, who will conduct a class on mentally retarded children.

One of the high lights of the intersession will be a field problem course in natural history to be conducted at Yosemite Valley under the supervision of Dr. Joel Gustafson and Mr. York Mandra, of the Natural Science Division.

THREE SESSIONS

The sessions will run from June 20, 1955 to August 26, 1955. The intersession is planned for one week, from June 20 to June 24, inclusive; regular session from June 27 to August 5, and post session from August 8 to August 26.

According to Dean Cain, it will be possible to earn one unit a week or 10 academic units, plus 1½ activity units.

Construction Started on New Frederic Burk Grade School

Construction of San Francisco's new $1,000,000 Frederic Burk Elementary School is under way. Contractors began work last week on the construction site at Font Blvd. and Arballo Dr.

According to the City School System, the project will be completed by Jan. 15, 1956, barring strikes and bad weather.

The school will have four classroom buildings, a cafeteria building, and an "all-purpose" building which will combine an auditorium and a gymnasium.

All classroom buildings will be constructed on the cantilever basis, thus allowing a maximum of window space in the exterior walls.

According to the contractor, the entire north and south walls of the classroom buildings will be of plate glass.

The City of San Francisco is building the south half of the school, which will be located in the area bordered by Font Blvd. and Roberta St. The buildings between Roberta St. and College Road will be built by the State of California.

Your Student Government

versity, 1922) which is the classic in this field.

I doubt if anyone, except the few irrationals mentioned at the beginning, doubts that extra-curricular activities, including student government, is not a part of the learning process and should be encouraged, not condemned, by McCarthy-like wild charges backed by little or no proof; of course, we can probably all learn from this type of thing also.

Temporary Gater Editors to Publish Term's Final Issue

In order to find some method for better selection of candidates for future posts on the Gater staff, the present editors of the Gater have decided to let the Journalism 50 class and new staff members take over the editorships and put out this semester's last issue of the college newspaper.

According to Keith Pinckney, editor-in-chief, the present editors will act as supervisors over the operation.

To break in new students from the Journalism 50 class who are interested in working on the Gater staff, assignments or "beats" will be broken down according to the student's preference.

Taking over the Gater's "reins" for the January 14 issue are:

Sigma Beta Music Club Features Recorded Music

Sigma Beta Music Club will present two more events in their series of Music Hours on January 10 from 1 to 2 p. m.

The events will feature recorded music. Sue Rucker, president of the club, urges everyone to come, bring their lunch and enjoy the music.

Coffee will be served for a small fee.

Marines Will Interview

A Marine Corps Office Procurement Team will be on campus from 8 a. m. to 3 p. m. on January 13 and 14. They will be located in the corridor at the main entrance to the gymnasium and will interview students who are interested in applying for the Platoon Leader's Class Program.

Guild Sets Up KRTG Fund Drive

Students in the Radio-TV Guild are donating their services to a fund-raising campaign to put station KRTG on the air.

Future plans call for a public address system, and possibly speakers in the cafeteria.

The program, produced by the students, will consist of the latest record releases from the major studios, news every hour on the hour, personality interviews, music from the Music Department, speakers, and drama productions.

Students are selling subscriptions to national magazines at student rates. The proceeds will go into a reserve fund which will be used for purchasing production materials the state or the student body does not supply.

Interested students should see Maury Silverman, Chuck Mendoza, Ed Stoermer or other members of Radio-TV Guild.

Boiler Room Letters

No Place to Hide

Editor—In the December 17 issue of the "Gater," the following paragraph appeared in the "By-Law Revision Fails" story:

"Many independent witnesses (sic) including Wayne Britton, speech instructor; John Clark, acting chairman of Language Arts; and Mr. Leo V. Young, Journalism advisor, were present at the meeting."

There is no place for me to hide on campus, and it is imperative that I be in the office at least during the hours posted on my door—which make it all too easy for members of the Language Arts division to find me. So, for the sake of peace of mind, I would like to identify further the gentlemen mentioned in the story. Mr. John Clark is the acting chairman of the Language Arts division and Assistant Professor of English; Dr. Wayne Britton is an assistant professor of speech; and the writer is only the advisor to the "Golden Gater." Dr. William DeClark is the journalism advisor.

I make this correction because of the nature of our unhappy times. Football coaches and Communist officials ordinarily discover their demotions by reading about it in the press; let no S. F. State faculty member be apprehensive that the "Gater" is a substitute for official notice.

LEO V. YOUNG,
Language Arts Division.

Commercialism?

Editor—In recent issues of the Gater there have been articles, letters, and editorials criticizing the supposed lack of concern on the part of seniors toward the school's activities and/or functions. This letter is not written to disprove this accusation but to point out that this senior is concerned and even disturbed over a recent happening in a department of our college.

Between December 3 and 7 the American Vocational Association held its convention here in San Francisco at the Civic Auditorium. Rightly, the Industrial Art Department of our college had a booth in the exhibition area of the convention hall. The booth supplied a gift to each of the conventioners, most of whom were educators.

The gift was a wrought wire kangaroo that held a pencil and a pad of paper which was stamped, "Compliments of the Industrial Arts Dept., SFSC."

At the convention hall our Industrial Arts Dept. had an attractive young girl circulating throughout the building giving away book matches on which was printed, "Things are hopping at Booth 151." One fifty-one was the Industrial Arts, SFSC, booth.

What disturbs me in this situation is the fact that our Industrial Arts Dept. saw fit to employ a commercial gimmick in the idea of a "gift," plus the use of the promotional technique in having an attractive girl circulate throughout the building giving away books of matches.

I believe, that it is correct to assume that when any department of the school participates in an off-campus activity it is functioning as an ambassador of the entire college. Furthermore, I feel that there are ethical standards to govern the choice of methods of exhibiting when displaying at an educators' convention. These standards should include, I believe, an underlying desire to rather simply and modestly exhibit the department's wares—whether intellectual endeavors or creatively produced objects.

Further, I believe that the purpose of a public display by a department should be to show just what the college is doing in any area of activity. However, the participants of the A. V. A. convention know only that the Industrial Arts Dept. of SFSC produced over 1000 wrought iron kangaroos to give to them.

Our exhibit was in contrast to that of Marin Junior College, which was composed of a tasteful and elaborate display of pottery. NO commercials—NO promoters. JIM BALLARD.

Davis Withdraws

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN—To the relief of many, my "Smatter of Opinion" column will not appear again in the pages of the Golden Gater. However, their joy is to be short-lived because the material which would have been included in those columns will be distributed otherwise.

My association with the editor and some of the staff has been a pleasant and rewarding one; but I am somewhat tired of the myriad pressures exerted upon myself and some members of the staff during the past year.

This is an American campus, but at times it has been difficult to believe. In the future I will make known, perhaps in my own publications, the reasons for this statement. In a sense I will have more freedom to formulate my charges that in some areas of the college community, authority is exercised by those who are ill-fitted to do so. Respectfully,

STEPHEN T. DAVIS.

Gator Hoopsters Drop Final Tourney Game

Quintet Wins First 2 Tilts; Bows to Chico

By BOBBIE STORCK

Winning their first two games of the Far Western Conference Basketball Tournament, S. F. State dropped the championship tilt to Chico, 68-59.

During the tournament, each of the teams played three games. However, there was a great disadvantage having the final on New Year's Eve. This definitely "cramped the style of the fellows," commented Coach Dan Farmer.

LEIBE HIGH SCORER

With Bob Leibe as high point man with 33, S. F. State won its tournament opener, 86-64, over Humboldt State. Henry Fort took runner-up honors with 13 points.

In winning the second game against Sacramento State, 79-70, Fort came through with 34 points while Leibe was again up there with 16.

FREE THROWS FAIL

Climaxing the tournament S. F. State lost the championship to Chico. Despite the fact that State had more field baskets than Chico, they were outplayed on the foul line.

"The three outstanding players during the tournament were Gary Kenny, Henry Fort, and Bob Leibe and if an all-star team had been picked," Coach Farmer said, "these fellows couldn't have helped but make the first string."

States' first conference games will be played against Nevada University at Reno on January 7 and 8. On January 14 S. F. State will play Sacramento State here.

Sports Shots

S. F. State came in second in the Far Western Conference Basketball Tournament at Chico during the Christmas vacation. The old Chico hex prevailed again as the Wildcats defeated the San Francisco State Gators, 68-59, in the finals.

Last year, the Golden Gators were far atop the Far Western Conference when they traveled to Chico for a two-game series.

Chico Won Three in a Row Last Year

The Red 'n' Whiners knocked off San Francisco twice in a row and tied the city five for the championship. A play-off game was scheduled for the following week in San Francisco. Chico, then proceeded to win that game and help herself to the F. W. C. pennant.

One bit of scheduling proves to be in San Francisco States' favor this year, however. The two regular season conference games between the two schools will be played in S. F. on February 25 and 26. Perhaps, this year, the Gators will have better luck on their own court.

Conference Play Begins

This week end, Far Western Conference basketball play begins when S. F. State travels to Reno for a two-game series with the Nevada Wolfpack. Then, next week, the Sacramento Hornets play a home and home twin bill with the Gators.

As seen at the F. W. C. Tourney, either of these teams could rise and completely wash away San Francisco's title hopes. Nevada, particularly, is expected to offer tough competition on its home court.

Mural... Notes

Winners of the Intramural All-College boxing tournament held December 16 in the Men's Gymnasium were announced Tuesday by John Barrie, tournament manager.

Mike Cassidy was awarded the decision in the 125-lb. division, and Richard Kraft outboxed his opponent to win top honors in the 147-lb. weight class.

George Martinez in the 156-lb. class, Dick Landry, 178, and Ray Nonella, heavyweight, were victors in their divisions.

GYMNASTICS

Today is the deadline date for sign-ups in the intramural gymnastics meet which will begin January 11 at 12:10 p. m. in the Men's Gym. Finals will be held Thursday during the noon hour.

Darrell Victor, meet manager, announced Monday that this tournament is designed to test agility, speed, strength, and co-ordination. Events are the rope climb, fence vault, standing broad jump, and an obstacle course.

The meet is open to team as well as individual competition.

Rules and regulations, scoring techniques, award determinants, and official entry forms are mounted on the intramural bulletin board in the Men's Gym.

Records were set last year in all four events of the gymnastics meet: Pervis Atkins set the obstacle course record at 10.8 seconds; John Raiweski established a rope climb record of 3.3 seconds, and Bruce Duncan compiled record of 6 ft. 2 in. in the fence vault and 9 ft. 6 3/4 in. in the standing broad jump.

BADMINTON

Kappa Omega and Contra Costa Athletic Club will meet today at noon in the Men's Gym to determine the winner of the intramural team badminton tournament.

Leibe's 23 Points Lead Gator Win Over L. A. State

Center Bob Leibe's great all-around play, and flashy shooting by forward Hank Fort, led to a decisive 75-67 Gator victory over previously undefeated Los Angeles State last December 18 on San Francisco's court.

The game was more lop-sided than the score indicated, as the Gators were off to a quick lead and never came close to relinquishing it. They held a half-time lead of 44-25 and continued to hold that 19-point spread for much of the game. Not until Coach Dan Farmer cleared the bench and Hank Fort fouled out did the Diablos make the score a respectable one.

Hank Fort had potted 17 quick ones in the first half, while Leibe was going along at a steady clip. The second half found Fort fouling out and Leibe, State's Little All-American candidate, getting hot and taking over where Fort left off. Hitting primarily on long one-handers from around the key, "Big Bob" finished the evening with 23 points. Fort ended up with 20 counters, while steady Gary Kenny hit for 13, looking good as usual.

Eli Sherman, Angeleno guard, was big man for the Southlanders, racking up 15 points, most of them in the second half.

State, Nevada Collide In Two-Game Series

By HANK CUNNINGHAM

Reno, Nevada, will be the scene of a two-game basketball series when the Golden Gators of San Francisco State College clash with the University of Nevada Wolfpack tonight and tomorrow night.

The Gators, boasting a seven-win, two-loss record, will be bucking a Reno quintet credited with but five victories in nine attempts.

SECOND PLACE

Co-champions of Far Western Conference last year, the Purple and Gold cage squad came in second to Chico State in the conference tournament last week.

The probable starting line-up for S. F. will consist of Bob Liebe at center, Henry Fort and Ernest Browning at forwards, and Gary Kenny at guard. Either Bob Brown or Ron Rosenberg will step into the other guard post.

NEVADA COMPETITION

Nevada will offer competition in the form of Tronday and Sullivan at forwards, Scott at the pivot position, and Handley and Nelson as guards.

Among the top scorers for the men from Reno is Handley, who accounted for 24 markers against Sacramento State, and Tronday, who scored 10 points in the same encounter. Both men are skillful players and could lead Nevada in its quest for an upset if not closely watched.

STUDYING MADE SIMPLE

I have passed my thirty-fifth birthday, and my dewlaps droop and my transmission needs oil. More and more my eyes turn inward, reminiscing, sifting the past, browsing lovingly among my souvenirs, for at my time of life memories are all a man has.

And most precious are the memories of college. It still makes my pulses quicken and my old glands leap to life just to think of it. Ah, I was something then! "Swiftly" my friends used to call me, or "Rakehell" or "Candle-at-both-Ends" or "Devil Take the Hindmost." My phone was ringing all the time. "Come on, Devil-Take-the-Hindmost," a cohort would say, "let's pile into the old convertible and live up a storm. I know a place that serves all-bran after hours."

So it went—night after mad night, kicks upon kicks, sport that wrinkled care derides, laughter holding both his sides. "Come on, 'Candle-at-Both-Ends,' my companions would plead, "sing us another two hundred verses of Sweet Violets."

"No, my companions," I would reply with a gentle but firm smile, "we must turn homeward, for the cock has long since crowed."

"'Twas not the cock," they would answer, laughing merrily. "Twas Sam Leghorn doing his imitation of a chicken!"

And, sure enough, 'twas. Crazy, madcap Sam Leghorn. How I miss his gaiety and wit! I never tired of hearing his imitation of a chicken, nor he of giving it. I wonder what's become of him. Last I heard he was working as a weathervane in Tacoma.

Oh, we were a wild and jolly gang in those days. There was Sam Leghorn with his poultry imitations. There was Mazda Watts who always wore a lampshade on her head. There was Freddie Com who stole a dean. There was Cap Queeg who always carried two steel marbles in his hand. There was Emily Hamp who gilded her house mother.

Yes, we were wild and jolly, and the wildest and jolliest was I... But not right away. I blush to admit that in my freshman year I was dull, stodgy, and normal. I finally corrected this loathsome condition, but for a while it was touch and go. And, dear reader—especially dear freshman reader—be warned: it can happen to you.

The makers of Philip Morris have bought this space so I can bring you a message each week. There is no more important message I can give you than the following: College can be beautiful. Don't louse it up with studying.

That was my mistake. At first, cowed by college, I studied so much that I turned into a dreary, blinking creature, subject to dry-mouth and fainting fits. For a year this dismal condition prevailed—but then I learned the real function of college. And what is that? I'll tell you what: to prepare you to face the realities of the world. And what do you need to face the realities of the world? I'll tell you what—poise, that's what you need. And how do you get poise? I'll tell you how: not by keeping your nose in a book, you may be sure!

Relax! Live! Enjoy!... That's how you get poise. Of course you have to study, but be poised about it. Don't be like some clods who spend every single night buried in a book. Not only are they not learning poise; they are also eroding their eyeballs. The truly poised student knows better than to make the whole semester hideous with studying. He knows that the night before the exam is plenty of time to study.

Yes, I've heard that lots of people have condemned cramming. But have you heard who these people are? They are the electric light and power interests, that's who! They want you to sit up late and study every night so you'll use more electricity and enrich their bulging coffers. Don't be a sucker!

Clearly, cramming is the only sensible way to study. But beware! Even cramming can be overdone. Take it easy. On the night before your exam, eat a hearty dinner. Then get a date and go out and eat another hearty dinner. Then go park someplace and light up a Philip Morris. Enjoy the peaceful pleasure it offers. Don't go home until you're good and relaxed.

Once at home, relax. Do not, however, fall asleep. This is too relaxed. To insure wakefulness, choose a chair that is not too comfortable. For example, take a chair with nails pointing up through the seat—or a chair in which somebody is already sitting.

Place several packs of Philip Morris within easy reach. Good mild tobacco helps you to relax, and that's what Philip Morris is—good mild tobacco. But Philip Morris is more than just good mild tobacco; it is also cigarette paper to keep the good mild tobacco from spilling all over the place.

Now you've got the uncomfortable chair and the Philip Morris. Now you need light. Use the lit end of your Philip Morris. Do not enrich the electric power interests.

Read your textbook in a slow, poised manner. Do not underline. It reduces the re-sale value of your book. Always keep your books in prime re-sale condition; you never know when you'll need getaway money.

As you read you will no doubt come across many things you don't understand. But don't panic. Relax. Play some records. Remove a callus. Go out and catch some night crawlers.

Relax. Be poised. Stay loose. And remember—if things really close in, you can always take up teaching.

Many Activities at 'Gator Swamp'

are sucked into its mire, leaders of the "Swamp" continue to try to convince the State student that the hut is being run for his or her convenience.

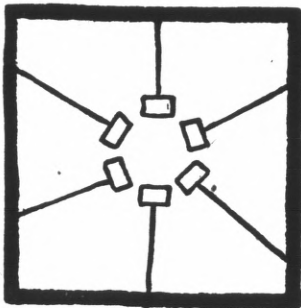

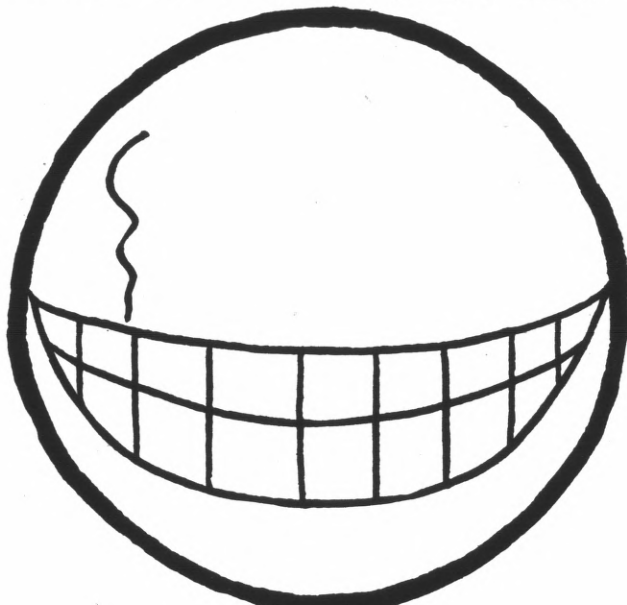

Vince Rafella, head man of the "Swamp" has built it up in the past term so that it provides the best facilities in its short history. Students like Bernie Johnson, Ed Schultz, and Ralph DelBuccia offer their services to help it keep going.

Just drop in the "Swamp" at any time and ask about the most underrated project on the campus.

"IT'S TOASTED"
to taste better!

STUDENTS ARE ECSTATIC about Luckies. That's the word, straight from the latest, largest college survey ever. Again, the No. 1 reason Luckies lead in colleges over all other brands, coast to coast—border to border: Luckies taste better. They taste better, first of all, because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, that tobacco is toasted to taste better. This famous Lucky Strike process tones up Luckies' light, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better. So be smart, like the student in the Doodle above, titled: Lucky smoker swinging in hammock. Swing to Luckies yourself. Enjoy the better-tasting cigarette... Lucky Strike.

Better taste Luckies... LUCKIES TASTE BETTER...Cleaner, Fresher, Smoother
